Abstract: We first exhibit homotopy projective spaces which carry infinitely many metrics of positive Ricci curvature representing different components in the respective moduli space. These examples are then used as building blocks to construct other manifolds with this property.